WILL STUMP PENNSYLVANIA

Colonel Roosevelt to Campaign in Pinchot's Interest

HE WILL FIGHT PENROSEISM

Washington Party Candidate for United States Senator Will Begin Visiting Towns of the State Next Monday—Says He Wants to Meet the Voters.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, leader of the Progressive party in the nation, will be a factor in Pennsylvania's triangular campaign in the fall.

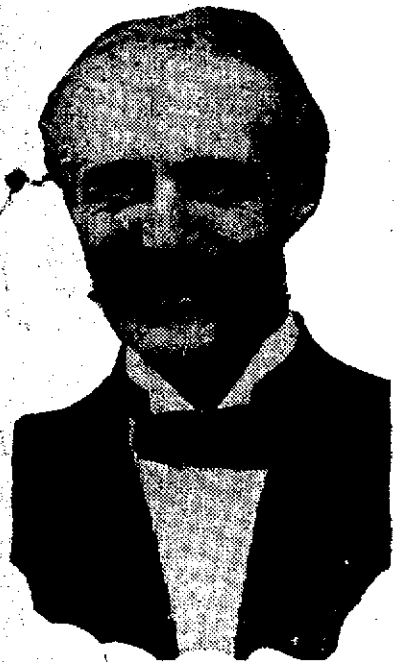

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

and will stump the state for the Washington party ticket and against the ticket headed by Senator Penrose. Colonel Roosevelt's fight will be against Penrose and Penroseism.

So declared Gifford Pinchot, ex-forer of the United States, personal and political friend of the Colonel and Washington party nominee for United States senate, Thursday evening just after his return from a conference with the Colonel Thursday, at Oyster Bay.

Three Weeks in the State.

Mr. Pinchot told this, confirming a telegram he had sent to Representative Fred E. Lewis, Washington party nominee for secretary of internal affairs, at Washington. In that telegram Mr. Pinchot advised Mr. Lewis that Colonel Roosevelt would spend three weeks in Pennsylvania in the fall in the pre-election campaign, arriving in the state about the first week of October. While it is understood that the whole itinerary has not yet been arranged it is also understood that the Roosevelt program comprehends speeches in the large cities and towns and an automobile tour which would reach smaller places.

The Colonel's Platform.

It is further understood that Colonel Roosevelt's chief points in his Pennsylvania speeches will be: Penroseism.

Advocacy of the Progressive state and legislative ticket.

Advocacy of local option.

General denunciation of the Penrose machine.

Wants to Elect Pinchot.

Colonel Roosevelt is surely coming

here to try to elect his friend Pinchot to the senate as Senator Penrose's successor. Mr. Pinchot let it be known that he was going to start on a tour of the state early next Monday morning. Mr. Pinchot will at that time begin his campaign for election, a campaign which will not end until next November.

Mr. Pinchot, plans to cover the state as fully as possible, for the purpose of getting acquainted with the people of the state he seeks to represent in the United States senate.

Colonel's Keen Interest.

Mr. Pinchot gave out the following statement after his visit to Colonel Roosevelt:

"Colonel Roosevelt was keen to hear what has been going on in his absence, and was full of plans for the future. It is no more than true, to say that he showed himself specially interested in Pennsylvania. Indeed, Colonel Roosevelt authorized me to say in his behalf that he realizes fully the great importance of the campaign in Pennsylvania this year; that he is deeply interested in the success of the Washington party, and that later on he will come into Pennsylvania and take an active part in the fight.

"I expect to see Colonel Roosevelt again to continue discussion of Progressive questions in Pennsylvania and the nation."

Pinchot's Itinerary.

Mr. Pinchot's immediate itinerary plans that the candidate leave York at 7 o'clock on next Monday morning for an automobile tour of the surrounding country through the day, closing with a speech in front of the York court house in the evening. On the following day Mr. Pinchot goes to Spring Grove, Hanover, Adams county, Gettysburg, closing the day with a meeting in the Carlisle opera house. On next Wednesday, Mr. Pinchot will tour Cumberland county.

The candidate has notified the enrolled members of the Washington party of his coming to their several districts, by sending post cards, which bear this message:

FEDERALS FLEEING BEFORE THE REBELS

Citizens of Saltillo Fear Coming of Villa's Army.

Encarnada, Mexico, May 23.—The federal garrison of Saltillo, which evacuated that city, is in full flight southward toward San Luis Potosi. On foot, by train and on horses, thousands of civilians who fear to remain at Saltillo when it is captured by General Francisco Villa are fleeing.

Since Sunday the battle was continuous, but it is impossible to learn the number of casualties. Much of the fighting was carried on by General Toribio Ortega's division, to which the newspaper correspondents were attached. The casualties in this division were not large.

General Villa established his headquarters north of Saltillo. By a series of rushes the federal forces kept the Constitutionalists engaged in the outskirts north, east and west, affording opportunity for a number of troop trains to escape south.

The fighting continued in some quarters, but prisoners declare this is principally a bluff to cover the main body of the garrison which got away.

Constitutionalist officers say General Gutierrez, with a large force of Constitutionalists, has blocked the railroad to the south and that the retreating federals will find their progress toward San Luis Potosi stopped. Villa's horsemen are preparing to follow the enemy and attack in the rear.

Sworpe, Luthersburg; Mrs. Miles Wagner, and Mrs. H. P. Wigglesworth, of Grampian; and Mrs. S. C. Weber, of Rockton.

Mrs. G. W. Ogden, of Mt. Joy, is a sister of deceased. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at the home in Luthersburg, services being held in the Luthersburg church.

BUSINESS OF CIVIL COURT

Excellent Record Made by The Judges at May Term

FOURTEEN CASES SETTLED

Twenty Suits Continued, With a Possibility That in a Number of Them Litigants Will Adjust Their Differences—Seven Cases Tried Consumed a Great Deal of Court's Time.

An immense amount of business was transacted during the two weeks of May civil court, which ends today. While newspaper reports of the proceedings of civil court in the past two weeks noted the disposition of causes which were heard in open court, they did not chronicle the fact that a large number of cases on the list were settled or continued.

Judge Bell himself has been instrumental in persuading litigants that it would be their interest to settle cases without an appeal to a jury and in all of these cases the principals were entirely satisfied with the result.

Many Cases Settled.

There were 25 cases listed for trial for the first week of the May civil court. Of this number 8 were settled; 1 in which adjustment is probable; 5 continued; 3 in which judgment by consent was entered; 4 tried; 2 taken off list unless otherwise ordered; 2 discontinued.

In the second week of civil court there were 23 cases listed. Of these 2 were tried; 9 were continued; 4 were settled; 2 were continued pending settlement; 2 to be heard by Judge Bell without a jury; 1 for trial.

Judge Whitehead, of Lycoming county, faced a list of 13 special cases, being those in which Judge Bell was interested as counsel before his elevation to the bench. Of these 6 were continued; 3 were settled; 3 non-suited; 1 tried, and 1 ready for trial.

Record for the Two Weeks.

During the two weeks the record of cases stands:

Tried	7
Settled	14
Continued	20
Non-suited	3
Judgment by consent	3
Taken off list	2
Discontinued	4
To be heard by court without a jury	2
Pending adjustment	4
Open	2
Total	61

Business Was Expedited.

Before both judges the business of court was expedited in a satisfactory manner, and the expense of trying petty causes or suits in which trifling amounts were involved was saved to the taxpayers of the county. The fact that a large number of cases were continued is a good augury, as it is the continued cases which stands a good chance of being settled.

It would surprise the public if it were to learn the inside history of some of the cases brought in the civil court. Litigation appears to be a disease which attacks some people and from which they only recover when they run against the machinery of the law and discover that what they regarded as a just claim turns out to be based on nothing more substantial than their imagination.

CHURCH ADDITION

Lutheran Improvement Will be Finished by September 1.

It is expected that the addition which will be built to the English Lutheran church on North Third street will be completed by September 1. Bids for doing the work will be opened this week.

The addition will be 28x50 feet in size and will be of brick, with oak paneling in the interior. The new building will increase the seating capacity of the church one half, but the popularity of the pastor, Rev. C. R. Allenbach, and the constantly increasing membership of the congregation are expected to fill the edifice.

It is proposed to purchase and install a pipe organ costing about $2,500, and Andrew Carnegie has been requested to contribute the amount he usually gives churches wishing to buy organs—$1000. Up to the present time no response has been made to the request.

JUNIOR PARTY

The Junior class of the Clearfield High school had a surprise party for Miss Hoyt, at the County home, yesterday afternoon. The party left on the 1 o'clock train and had a delightful time.

AN APPRECIATED GIFT

Mrs. McGaughey's Fine Present to Domestic Science Department.

Mrs. David McGaughey, Clearfield, who is now in Washington, surprised the domestic science department of the Clearfield High school by sending them from Philadelphia a set of dishes. The gift is very welcome one to the department, which was badly in need of the dishes, as well as it is of some other equipment.

The teaching of domestic science in the public schools does much to show the value of economy and of well prepared meals in the home. Further help in increasing the facilities of the department by people interested in the schools would be appreciated.

PEACE ENVOYS FACE HARD TASK

Carranza's Representative Allowed to Attend Session.

MORE OPTIMISM PREVAILS.

Something of Great Importance—One Knows What It Is—Expected to Develop in Day or Two—May Try to Establish Provisional Government in Mexico—Seek Views of Rebels.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 23.—Something of great importance is believed to be impending in the mediation conferences designed for the solution of Mexico's troubles. Just what it is, of course, cannot be definitely ascertained, but judging from the moves made by the mediators during the past twenty-four hours it most probably has to do with the establishment of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of the fast crumbling government under General Victoriano Carranza.

On the other hand, there are not a few who incline to the belief that the representatives of Carranza, Huerta and Chila acting as the mediators have encountered something extremely difficult. There are rumors that the Huerta delegates, Senors Robson, Redington and Elguero, have informally requested the mediators to take more cognizance than has been the case of Huerta's position and to have the American delegates assent to the same thing. Naturally this would prove a bounding point.

Majority is Optimistic.

Those optimistic of the success of the conferences, however, apparently were in the majority as the result of the intimations and indications that the mediators are working for a new Mexican provisional government, which would hold sway until an election was held and needed reforms to Mexico were at least indicated.

One step in this direction is the impending arrival here of a representative of the Mexican Constitutionalists. It has been emphasized continually that a complete settlement of Mexico's troubles is impossible without the inclusion of the Constitutionalists into any plan decided upon. Apparently the A. B. C. mediators have advanced to that stage in their work where the entire Mexican situation has been taken up and where the necessity of obtaining the views of General Victoriano Carranza and his officials has asserted itself.

The Constitutionalists representative when he arrives most probably will be taken into conference by the mediators. The conference, however, will be an informal one. The Constitutionalists do not constitute a formal party to the mediation conferences, and for that reason any dealings with them cannot be official. The way for them formally to enter the conferences at the Clinton House, however, will not be closed.

At the conference with General Carranza's agent the mediators will sound him thoroughly as to the desires of his chief and will make recommendations which will be transmitted to the Constitutionalists supreme chief. What is learned from the agent undoubtedly will influence the negotiations between the mediators and the Huerta and American delegates.

CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN LAUNCHED

Washington Party Leaders Hold Important Conference

WILL MAKE VIGOROUS FIGHT

Former State Senator Flinn Sees No Chance for Penrose, and is Enthusiastic Over the Outlook for the Success of the Washington Party This Fall.

Actual launching on the Washington party campaign for the election of Clifford Pinchot as United States senator, William Draper Lewis as governor and the smashing of the Penrose machine took place Saturday at an all-day conference of Progressive leaders of the state at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Philadelphia.

Two important propositions resulted directly from the gathering. Decision was reached to call the newly elected state committee together in Harrisburg on June 4, when a state platform will be adopted.

For a Rousing Campaign.

The drafting of this platform placed in the hands of a committee, consisting of the candidates on the state ticket, who will report to the conference on the evening preceding the Harrisburg meeting.

In addition plans were laid for a campaign which will arouse all of the enthusiasm that marked this history-making fight of 1912. One of the principal figures in this campaign will be Theodore Roosevelt. Former State Senator William Flinn, who has just returned from a conference with Colonel Roosevelt, spoke enthusiastically of the outlook for success next fall.

Candidates at Conference.

The conference was attended by all except one of the state nominees of the Washington party, including Clifford Pinchot, nominee for United States senator; William Draper Lewis, for governor; Percy F. Smith, of Allegheny, for lieutenant governor; Fred E. Lewis, of Lehigh, for secretary of internal affairs, and Lex N. Mitchell, of Jefferson; Arthur Ruple, of Cumberland and Anderson H. Walters, of Cambria, three of the nominees for congress-at-large.

Party Officers Present.

Washington party officers at the conference included former State Senator Flinn, of Pittsburgh, national committeeman from Pennsylvania; A. Nevin Detrick, of Franklin, state chairman, and H. D. Lindermuth, of Schuylkill, secretary of the state committee.

Other Progressive leaders present were Auditor General A. W. Powell, State Treasurer Robert K. Young, H. D. W. English, E. A. Van Valkenburg, and Judge Charles N. Brumm, who contested the Washington party gubernatorial nomination with Doctor Lewis, the successful candidate.

Owing to his wife's illness Major Harry Watson, the only Grand Army man who is a candidate on any of the state tickets, was unable to be present.

Senator Flinn's Views.

Former Senator Flinn in an interview at the close of the conference, was enthusiastic over the outlook for the success of the Washington party's candidates. He said Colonel Roosevelt regarded the election in Pennsylvania as of very great importance and that the colonel would give ample time to the campaign here, coming here several times if necessary.

"Personally," said Mr. Flinn, "I think the election in Pennsylvania will be the most important in the United States. The eyes of the nation are on the contest here."

Sees No Chance for Penrose

Asked what he thought of Senator Penrose's chances of election Mr. Flinn replied: "I don't think he has any chance. The primary election indicates his full strength. He would have to get at least 400,000 votes to win. He would have to get 50 percent more than Taft, and that he can not do."

"The Penrose vote in Allegheny represents the characteristic Penrose following two-thirds of it being made up of the liquor vote, which is solidly for him."

"Palmer may poll as many votes

as Wilson. He cannot poll any more and, therefore, cannot win.

Throttle Progressive Legislation.

"The Republican state senate," said Mr. Flinn, "throttled all the progressive legislation at the last session of the legislature, and that legislation is just as urgent now as it was then, but the people won't trust the Republican organization leaders, as any sensible man knows they won't do what they promise in the way of progressive legislation."

Mr. Flinn referred to the enrollment law as a fraud, and said the enrollment figures gave no indication of party strength. "The registrars in many instances outside of the big cities," he said, "enrolled voters just as they pleased, and as most of the registrars are Republican machine followers they naturally put the voters down as Republicans."

STATE HIGHWAYS

Bids Will be Asked for Roads in This Part of State.

The state highway department is preparing to advertise for bids on state-aid construction in Cambria, Fayette, McKean, York, Chester, Lycoming, Montgomery and Tioga counties and for bids on a small piece of approach work on a Sproul highway in Westmoreland county. These bids will close on June 18.

In Cambria county there are two contracts, one of which is in East Taylor township and East Conemaugh borough. The length of this stretch is 9,185 feet and the construction is to be of brick block on a concrete foundation in East Conemaugh borough, while alternate bids will be received on a concrete roadway and brick block paving on a concrete foundation for the piece in East Taylor township.

The other Cambria county piece of work is in Barnesboro borough, the length being 6,242 feet and is to be brick block paving.

The McKean county bid is for work to be done in Port Allegany borough, a distance of 6,272 feet, of brick block paving.

Hiking to St. Louis.

W. L. Shortess, of Berwick, who is on a hike to St. Louis on a wager, stopped in Clearfield this morning. He must complete his task in 40 days.

NEW LIGHTSHIP LOST WITH 25 MEN ABOARD

Sturdy Halifax No. 19 Wrecked in Fog Off Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S., May 24.—The battered bulk of the new lightship, the Halifax 19, was found among the breakers on Liscomb island, five miles from the mainland. She struck during the dense fog which has enshrouded the coast for several days, and it is believed her crew of twenty-five are lost.

Six bodies, bearing life belts have been recovered by the steamer Dufferin. Both lifeboats which the vessel carried were also found. A search of the rocky little islands in the vicinity was made in the hope that some of the crew might have been able to get through the surf alive.

Word reached the Canadian marine department here that the hull of the lightship was broken in halves.

The ship was on her maiden voyage from her builder's yards at Paisley, Scotland, to take up her station off Sambre ledges, near Halifax harbor. Captain MacBeth and Chief Engineer McKenzie were the only members of the crew known here. The men were shipped in Glasgow.

The government steamers Stanley and Lady Laurier were ordered to search for possible survivors or for more bodies.

Although the lightship was the last word in staunch steel construction and carried one twenty-three foot lifeboat and a powerful twenty-four foot motor launch, the Canadian marine department has little hope that any on board escaped. Long rollers from the north Atlantic break over the jagged rocks with terrific force in the calmest weather. All vessels give the spot as wide a berth as possible.

Everybody Delighted.

Everybody who heard Prof. H. G. Marshall Marashleian sing and play yesterday was highly delighted. The professor is one of the most gifted vocalists in the United States.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Woman's club will meet in the High school building tomorrow evening (Tuesday) at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

A FINE LECTURE BY DR. WRIGHT

Superintendent of Italian Missions Gives Three Talks

OUR DUTY TO IMMIGRANTS

American People Too Prone to Treat With Indifference or Contempt the Foreigner Who Comes Here to Make a Home—Italians a Thrifty Race.

The citizens of Clearfield received a rare treat Sunday when Dr. E. H. Wright, of New York, gave three of his interesting talks on his work among the Italians. Dr. Wright has had a wide experience with the Italian work, having been pastor of the American church in Italy for four years and district superintendent there for four years. He is now district superintendent of all the territory in America east of the Mississippi.

In the morning he gave a short talk to the Sunday school scholars of Trinity church, and later in the morning talked to the members of the Eleventh Street church.

Cheers Hospital Patients.

In the afternoon Dr. Wright, on hearing that there were some Italian in the Clearfield hospital, and being thoroughly in love with his work, sacrificed an afternoon of rest and went to see those who were ill. There he found several Italians who were not only physically, but who were downcast and lonely for the sight of some one or something from their home-land. The visit of Dr. Wright revived their spirits and gave them new courage.

In the evening Dr. Wright gave a very interesting lecture in the West Side M. E. church. The doctor is an earnest, forceful speaker and held the undivided attention of his audience during the entire evening.

In his frank, open-hearted way he told of his experience in the Land of Sunshine. He pointed out to the American people their weakness in regard to the foreigner.

Should Apply Golden Rule.

He said "We might apply the Golden Rule to ourselves. No American would like to be nicknamed as we have nicknamed the Italian. Why not 'Do unto others as you would that they should do to you'?" The majority of Americans make practically no effort to Christianize the foreigner, but always look upon him as an undesirable citizen. "The doctor told of several instances where the Italian has made good in this country and mentioned several that are occupying prominent positions and are good Christian citizens. "They do not come to America to beg he said, "but to make good, and instead of being encouraged they are met with hatred and distrust. There are two-thirds of the foreign population in America that are either indifferent to their church or are affiliated with no religious denomination." Dr. Wright even cited some instances where the Italian was barred from public worship in America. "Here in our free and glorious land, which was founded by our Puritan Fathers, everyone might worship unmolested according to the dictates of his own heart."

HOSTON STANDS BEFORE A JURY

Negro Charged With Killing of James Dunkle on Trial

CRIME COMMITTED AT A DANCE

Community in Which Killing Was Done Said to be One of the Most Lawless in Pennsylvania—Whites and Blacks Commingle Without Thought of Morals or the Law.

Clayton Hoston was placed on trial before the Clearfield county court this afternoon for the killing of James Dunkle, at or near Cataract early Sunday morning, April 19.

The commonwealth is represented by Messrs. Welch, Kelley and Murray; and the defendant will have Messrs. Gleason and Urey to look after his interests. The jury being selected this afternoon is being taken from the panel which was called at the criminal court the first week in May.

Judge Bell will hear the case.

Killed at a Dance.

Dunkle attended a dance at one of the houses at Cataract Saturday evening, April 18, and Hoston, a colored man was one of the musicians. The dance was attended by the denizens of that part of the county, where race or color is not a bar to social enjoyment and where morals are said to be at a low ebb.

There were no disturbances during the evening, and the dance was continued until the early hours of Sunday morning.

It was during an interval of the festivities that Dunkle was slashed with a knife which was wielded by Hoston. It is alleged, the wounded man dying in about fifteen minutes. There were many witnesses to the cutting, and the story first told was to the effect that while Dunkle was standing talking to another person Hoston went behind him and slashed him across the stomach without warning.

Hoston Shot in Back.

After the cutting Hoston started to run from the scene, but man named Burfield picked up a 22-caliber revolver and fired twice at the fleeing negro, both bullets entering his back. Hoston was arrested and brought to the county jail, where his wounds were attended to, not being serious.

The community in which this crime was committed is said to be one of the most lawless in Pennsylvania. The people in that vicinity have intermarried for years, and black and white intermingle with seeming indifference to either religious precept or man-made laws. A killing of a man in that community causes no more excitement than would the shooting of a deer.

The jury in this case is now being drawn.

ELK DANCE

General Good Time Promised Those Who Will Attend.

Clearfield Lodge, B. P. O. Elks, will hold a dance at the Danahoe hotel on Thursday evening, May 28. It is not a program dance, as the committee desires to furnish a good social time for both young and middle aged. A lot of novel and odd dances and entertainments of a social feature will enliven the occasion.

The patronesses are Mrs. E. E. Jimeson, Mrs. Fred Weaver, Mrs. A. M. Liveright, Mrs. John A. Stock, Mrs. W. I. Swoope, Mrs. Matt Savage, Mrs. J. F. Leitzinger, Mrs. F. Kittleberger, Mrs. J. P. Fletcher, Mrs. Harry Scholl and Mrs. J. H. Kelley.

Pie Social at Mt. Joy.

A pie social will be held in Mt. Joy, Thursday, May 28. The public is cordially invited. Proceeds for benefit of Mt. Joy church.

Sheriff Mahaffey Some Better.

Sheriff Mahaffey, who is suffering from an attack of Bright's disease, is somewhat better today.

VISIONS OF WEALTH

But They Vanished Like the Mists in the Morning Sun.

Harry Adams, while standing on Second street bridge Friday evening thought he saw some more money in the river, from which boys fished quite a sum last week. Harry thought of the coming circus, so he procured a rope, fastened it to the bridge, went down to the water hand over hand, picked up what he had been certain was a $20 bill and discovered that it was a green stamp off a cigar box.

Harry still thinks the people who laughed at him were very rude.

COLONEL PROPOSES STRAUS FOR SENATE

Roosevelt Says New York Must Be Bolstered Up.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 24.—Colonel Roosevelt and the Progressive leaders who visited his home here discussed conditions in New York state and Ohio.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, chairman of the New York state Progressive committee and a nephew of the colonel, said he thought he knew something about the situation in New York in so far as the Progressives were concerned, when he arrived, but he went away with his viewpoint altered considerably. The colonel put aside, with a wave of his hand, all discouraging reports and said that New York must be bolstered up.

As the opening suggestion he proposed Oscar S. Straus for United States senator. When this had been discussed other names were considered for other offices. Among them was that of Bainbridge Colby, one of the most active workers in the 1912 campaign. It was proposed to make him candidate for governor. Frederick M. Davenport, former state senator and nominee for lieutenant governor in 1912, when Mr. Straus headed the state ticket, was considered for this place, and so was William H. Hotchkiss, former Progressive state chairman.

It is understood here that Mr. Straus will accept the nomination as United States senator and that he is prepared to make a hard fight. Colonel Roosevelt, it is understood, is satisfied that Mr. Straus can win at the direct primaries.

TERSE DEMAND TO PEACE MEDIATORS

Wilson Sends Instructions to American Representatives

WON'T RECOGNIZE CARRANZA

To Pacify Neighbor Peaceably if Possible, Otherwise Force May Be Used. Army to Remain at Vera Cruz, Mexico. "Such Other Steps as May Be Necessary"—Carranza Refuses Delegates.

Washington, May 24.—"The United States will pacify Mexico peaceably if possible, forcibly if necessary."

"The United States neither the Huerta nor Carranza faction in Mexico is friendly to American prestige in that republic, the United States is playing this element against each other to gain support from the Mexican masses."

"It insists that peace be established at once. American troops will not be withdrawn from Vera Cruz until peace is accomplished. Such other steps as may be necessary will be taken."

This message in effect was given by Commissioners Lamar and Lehmann to the A. B. C. mediators and the Huerta delegates at Niagara Falls through the mediators to Carranza.

A conference at Niagara Falls with orders from Washington by the president and Secretary Bryan, after a two days' session here with Carranza representatives.

Carranza Refuses Delegates. Efforts to induce Carranza to send delegates to the mediation conference are unavailing. The new step is ultimatum to the Constitutionists. This information was obtained soon after the receipt by the White House of word from Niagara Falls.

The American representatives were immediately instructed to detail the final position of the government. It is intended that this frank statement shall operate as a threat to Carranza not from the United States, but from the mediators, who are essentially friendly to all Mexican factions. Carranza will be told that he cannot be recognized unconditionally by the United States.

State department officials admit that Carranza wants to be recognized and to talk mediation afterward.

Should Carranza return an ultimatum that American troops leave Mexico soil mediation will crumble much more rapidly than the Huerta government, and the pacification of Mexico by American arms will follow.

Charles A. Douglas, general counsel of the Constitutionists, said that mediation could not be successful without Carranza. Carranza's representatives hold that as he will soon be in absolute control in Mexico President Wilson should deal with him alone.

Mr. Douglas conferred with Secretary Bryan and Envoy Lind. Then Secretary Bryan saw the president.

Temperature of Soil. Beyond a depth of three feet the temperature of the soil does not vary very much from day to day. At fifty feet it is impossible to measure any change due to changing seasons; at forty feet it is barely measurable. At twenty-five to thirty feet a change from season is quite perceptible, though the change takes over six months. At three feet the average annual mean is 45 degrees F.; at twenty-five feet a degree more.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

WHY?

Why has the board of health's cleanup notice been ignored by some of the people in this town?

Good evening! Don't you think there are two things you ought to pray for—rain and a change in the style followed by women?

WAR ON PENROSE.

Washington leaders of Pennsylvania
launched the campaign against Penroseism at a meeting in Philadelphia Saturday, which was attended
by nearly all of the candidates, Former Senator William Flinn, State Chairman Detrich and others. It was decided to begin the fight against Pen-
roseism at once, and Gifford Pinchot
began his work this morning, while
other speakers will tour the state and
speak in behalf of good government
from now until the day of election.

The determination of Colonel Roosevelt to come into Pennsylvania and
speak in behalf of the election of Gifford Pinchot has had the effect of encouraging the Washington party voters and the fact that the leading Republican newspapers of the east declare that the defeat of Penrose is
the imperative duty of the voters of Pennsylvania will go toward proving
to voters of all parties that the time
has come for the retirement of the man who has for years stood between the people and remedial legislation in the state assembly.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Preparations are being made for the observance of Memorial Day in Clearfield. Former post members,
now few in numbers, will hold the
usual services at the graves of the departed veterans, the firm will participate in the parade and other

civic bodies will contribute to the features of the day.

There are not many of the veterans of the Civil war remaining to participate in the Memorial day exercises. Those who have answered
the last roll call, live only in the memory of those who survive. It is a duty the living owe to the dead
to decorate the graves of the dead
heroes with bright flowers, and this
will no doubt be properly attended
to by the citizens of Clearfield.

It might be well for the state
health department to postpone the enforcement of the law requiring cities and boroughs to construct sever-
age disposal plants until after the corporations have been forced to stop emptying poisonous material in
the streams of the state.

Someone wants to know why the names of physicians are missing from the list of contributors to hospital debt fund. Probably the doctors can explain.

A good many Ryan Democrats will vote for Penrose, it is said. Certainly, the Ryan Democrats have trained with the Penrose gang for years.

ENVOYS THINK PEACE IN MEXICO IS NEAR

Optimism Evident After Con- ference With Delegates.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 24.—Substantial progress was made in the negotiations to end Mexico's troubles,
and the ambassador of Brazil and the ministers of Argentina and Chile announced that a conference had emphasized the likelihood of a favorable
outcome of the peace negotiations.

The conference was the first formal meeting of the A. B. C. envoys and the delegates of the United States and Mexico since their opening session on Wednesday. It lasted only an hour,
but during that time "several interesting points" were considered, according
to the statement issued on behalf of
the mediators.

The main point under discussion
had to do with the settlement of the Mexican land question, upon which President Wilson insists. It was learned after the conference that the Mexican delegates, while conceding that
the problem was one that might be brought into a plan for a general settlement of Mexico's difficulties, held
that it should not be so treated as to leave the government of Mexico committed to settle it in any particular
way.

It was stated that the Mexican delegates expressed the hope that President Wilson would not insist upon
terms for the adjustment of this problem that would make it impossible to adopt a different policy should circumstances make it desirable. They felt that latitude should be left in any agreement reached here for a settlement of the problem as future events
dictated.

The question of land reform has
formed the subject of several interesting "conversations" between the mediators and the delegates of the two parties to the negotiations, each set of delegates meeting the envoys at different times.

Vice President Marshall talked briefly
on the Mexican situation while at Richmond, Va. "From my personal observations upon the course of the Mexican situation I greatly favor the admission of Carranza's representatives to the mediation proceedings. I think there is little doubt that Villa will enter Mexico City
and that shortly Huerta's regime is terminating. The dictator's days are numbered.
When Villa takes Mexico City the United States will face a new crisis in the Mexican situation. From the facts as I know them it is my judgment that Villa is littler better than Huerta. Pancho Villa is not likely to be a party to mediation. I should say that the reckless course he has lately
must be stayed by influences outside
himself."

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back
hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and
our blood is filled with uric acid,
says a well-known authority, who
warns us to be constantly on guard
against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to
free the blood of this irritating acid,
but become weak from the overwork;
they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel
like lumps of lead and you have
stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or
the bladder is irritable, obliging you
to seek relief during the night; when
you have severe headaches, nervous
and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid
stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about
four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in
a few days your kidneys will act
fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon
juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush
and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can-
not injure; makes a delightful efferves-
cent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking
a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

WHY?

Why are the citizens so slow in contributing to the hospital debt fund?

Good evening! If you cannot see anything bright in this life consult an oculist.

ROOSEVELT IS COMING.

Any hope that the followers of Senator Penrose might have entertained that the Washington party of Pennsylvania would lay down its arms and surrender has been dissipated by the statement of Colonel Roosevelt that he is coming into Pennsylvania this fall to speak in behalf of the election of Gifford Pin-chot, the Washington candidate for United States senator. The campaign, so far as the Washingtons are concerned, promises to be full of vim and enthusiasm.

That Colonel Roosevelt's presence in the state will inspire with confidence and energy those who supported him in his fight against Penrose, Barnes, Reed and other standard Republicans in the campaign of 1912 there can be no doubt. There are thousands of voters in this state who have by no means lost their confidence in and esteem for Colonel Roosevelt, and when these voters learn that Mr. Roosevelt intends to speak and work for the election of Gifford Pinchot they will again rally around the Washington banner.

Despite the fact that Senator Penrose was nominated by a large majority at the primaries this will be of little benefit to him if all these former Republicans who supported him in 1912 will follow his advice
Roosevelt will follow his advice
those anti-Penrose Republicans who voted for Dimmick shall turn to Pin-chot. At this time it looks very favorable for the Washington candidate, and there are signs that the people of Pennsylvania will be represented in the United States senate for six years by a man who cannot be controlled by special privilege.

MAKING SOME PROGRESS.

Borough council Wednesday evening took a step forward in directing the special committee to employ an expert accountant to examine the books and accounts of the Clearfield Water company, in order that the citizens who favor municipal ownership of the water works
may know what price they will have to pay for the plant. The water company has not definitely stated that it would not permit such an expert, in the employ of the borough, to have access to its books, nor has council the right to say that the water company itself shall not employ a second expert to work on the books at the same time the borough's accountant makes his investigation.

What the citizens want is to ascertain the lowest possible price the borough will have to pay for the water works. This information can only be ascertained by an inspection of the books of the company. If an accountant who is unbiased and who will make a fair and impartial report of the cost of constructing and maintaining the water works can be secured by the borough there will be not the least excuse for the citizens to refuse to accept the figures he will present to them. This is the opinion of borough council, and if the citizens disagree with the council it will be up to them to decide what other course shall be pursued in reaching the desired end.

The firemen expect every citizen to join in making the Fourth of July celebration a grand success. The reputation of the town as a progressive place is at stake.

But will the Ryanites forget what the McCormick crowd said of them
in the recent campaign?

Features.

New York, May 22.
The early session of the stock market
was irregular and the trading very light.
There was very little feature beyond promoted strength in one or two of the leading railroad issues. The industrials were dull in the extreme.

Steel and Amalgamated Copper moved narrowly. Smelters made an early gain of three-fourths point. American Can

Missouri Pacific sold down early to 16
as compared with Thursday's close at 16 1/2.
New Haven and Lehigh Valley were under slight pressure. Canadian Pacific advanced one-half point, and Chesapeake and Ohio made an early gain of three-fourths point. Union Pacific was firm.
Pennsylvania Reading and Great Northern preferred moved narrowly around yesterday's closing level.

TRUST BILLS HALT; PRESIDENT FIRM

House Lags and Delay in Senate Is Now Foreseen.

WILSON DEMANDS ACTION.

No Compromise Will Be Considered by Leaders—Little Chance For Adjournment Before Latter Part of July Plans to Rush Consideration of Clayton's Measure to Both Branches.

Washington, May 24.—While President Wilson will not be content with anything less than the passage of the anti-trust bills through both house and senate this session, the outlook for the progress of this legislation is not encouraging. House members, including the leaders, evince such indifference to the Clayton omnibus measure now before it that the meager attendance caused an adjournment and the calling off of the night session planned in the senate further delay is foreseen in considering the trust legislation by a demand that will be made to refer the Clayton bill to the judiciary committee as soon as it comes from the house.

The president's attitude regarding the anti-trust legislation became known in answer to suggestions that some leaders at the capitol believed it would be sufficient to pass the bills in the house and only agree on a time for a vote next session in the senate. It was said at the White House that the president was firmly of the opinion that the legislation should be enacted at this session, and was not willing to make any compromise which might endanger the program determined upon by the house Democratic caucus. Although he realizes the desire of many members of congress to adjourn early, he believes the anti-trust legislation can be expedited in both houses.

Senate leaders' plans relating to the Clayton bill, which deals with price discriminations and definition of the Sherman anti-trust act, were indicated by Senator Overman, though it is probable that after a tussle the committee on interstate commerce will get the whole subject.

"I have talked to several members of the committee, who wish to have this measure referred to the judiciary committee," said Senator Overman, who is chairman of the latter committee. "I have not conferred with members of the committee on interstate commerce, but I hope that a division of the measures between the two committees can be arranged without friction."

The senate committee on interstate commerce has so far assumed exclusive jurisdiction over anti-trust legislation, and in reporting a tentative measure included in one bill all the various subjects with which the committee deems it wise to deal in the present session.

As to adjournment, there was a distinctly pessimistic air in the senate. Senator Kern, chairman of the Democratic caucus, modified his prediction of congress quitting July 10, now stating he hoped the senate would adjourn "some time in July."

ACCUSE PATRICK CALHOUN.

Commission Charges He Appropriated $1,000,000 Railways Money.

San Francisco, May 24.—That Patrick Calhoun, former president of the United States, appropriated more than $1,000,000 of the company's funds to finance private enterprises was charged by the state railroad commission in a decision.

The decision termed the transaction "loot and fraud upon the public and upon the company's bond and note holders."

Cleveland, O., May 24.—"The statement of the California railroad commission that I appropriated funds of the San Francisco United railways is absolutely untrue," said Patrick Calhoun here.

BEST OF ITS KIND

Indians and Buffalo are Now Almost Extinct on Prairies.

The American Indian will soon exist only in history. His extermination has been gradual, but will be sure. He has gradually been driven from his happy home in the east to a few barren reservations in the west, where, by amalgamation, dissipation or separation he is fast becoming extinct.

The Redskin has always been one of the most picturesque as well as cunning of the races. He is quick of perception, fleet of foot, loyal to a friend and unyielding to an enemy. There are many other things that make the Indians interesting to people who know very little about them or their habits. Even at this advanced period there are many people in America who have never seen an Indian.

The Buffalo, from which the Indian secured almost all his supplies, is also nearly extinct.

With the Indians and Buffalo nearly extinct, the future of the West is a very uncertain one.

WHITMAN GETS BECKER NOTES

Said to Have Urged Gunmen
to Keep Silent.

"DON'T SQUEAL" HE ASKED.

Would Have Been Used in Trial, but
Prosecutor Thought Case Was Strong Enough Without Them—Notes Were
Smuggled in Books—Becker Bears
Up Well and Is Still Hopeful.

New York, May 24.—Messages that
former Lieutenant Charles Becker
passed to the four gunmen in the Sing Sing death house are in the hands
of District Attorney Whitman.

If the trial of the former police officer had taken a turn adverse to the prosecution Mr. Whitman would have put the secretly written letters in as
state's evidence.

The convicted Becker wrote in these
notes, it is said, urging that the four
gunmen protect him in any confession
they might give before going to the electric chair.

"Don't squeal," is the message attributed to Becker.

The district attorney got one of the
notes from Mrs. "Lefty Louis" Rosenberg, widow of one of the gunmen,
while Becker's trial was on. He did not use them, as he believed he had
a strong enough case against Becker.

Mrs. Rosenberg came into possession of the notes on the last visit she made
to her husband. He told her, so she informed Whitman, that they were not
to be used until after the death of the gunmen.

"Lefty Louis" confided to his wife,
so she told Whitman, that Becker was frightened over the prospect of the four men turning against him, and he wrote the letters to bolster up their courage.

The messages were hidden in the pages of a book that Becker passed
into the cell of "Lefty Louis."

Messages Were Brief.
The gunman saw that the book was handed on to the others and later
sent back to Becker's cell. Another
note was later on communicated in
the same way.

Each message to the gunmen was brief. Whitman has had the handwriting compared with that of Becker,
and experts say it is unquestionably
his. The writing in the notes was an apparent attempt at disguise, but the characteristics are the same as Beck-
er's, so the experts say.

To get the messages from Becker's
cell to those of the gunmen the utmost ingenuity had to be used so as
to prevent the guards from suspecting
a trick. Mrs. Rosenberg told Whitman
that the gunmen used a book on religion that had been given them by one
of their spiritual advisers.

Whitman left town for a rest after
the stress of the trial and no one in his office would discuss the messages
from Becker. But it was admitted
that such notes were at hand and that Whitman would have used them had
the necessity arisen.

Although bitterly cast down over the
verdict that condemns him to the electric chair, Becker assumed a cheerful
attitude, hoping that the efforts of his counsel will again save him. Martin
T. Manton conferred in his office with Becker's brothers, John Becker and Jackson Becker, assuring them that he will waste no time in preparing an appeal.

Mrs. Becker had recovered from her utter

England and America were in the same plight on the closing day of the golf championship. All of England's players had been eliminated, and an Irishman and a Scot were the contestants for the cup. Up to the semifinals
the championship continued to furnish
big surprises, and it only remained for
the finals to finish up one of the most sensational tournaments ever known
in English sport competitions. All Englishmen have gone in the way of

GREAT INTEREST IN BECKER CASE

Two Years Since Murder Does
Not Diminish Excitement.

JUSTICE SEABURY'S CHARGE

Summing Up by Attorneys Considered Masterly—As Plucky Wife of Prisoner Entered Courtroom Before Jury Retired She Expressed Confidence in Outcome.

New York, May 23—Fully as much if not more interest was shown in the second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, charged with instigating the murder of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, as in the first. Throughout the trial the courtroom was jammed on every hand. Riots occurred at the doors among those who sought entrance. The case was given to the jury at 12:50 p. m.

The summing up of the case was considered masterly, both on the part of Attorney Manton for the defense and District Attorney Whitman for the state. Justice Seabury's charge to the jury was concise and clear. He covered every point in the law and instructed the jury that it was its duty to determine the credibility of the several witnesses whose past history and moral character were attacked by the attorneys in summing up the case.

The justice said in part:

"I charge you as a matter of law that Rose, Webber and Vallon are ac-

CHAS. BECKER.

complices because if their testimony is true, they aided and abetted in the murder of Herman Rosenthal. The jury will consider not only that Rose, Webber and Vallon are accomplices, but you may also consider the stipulation of immunity that they were not guilty of firing a shot and were telling the truth. The jury will also take into account the interest they have in abiding themselves in weighing their testimony. If the jury does not believe their testimony or if it has not been sufficiently corroborated, then you must acquit the defendant."

Becker strode into court a few minutes after the jury was seated. He looked hopefully at the twelve men picked to decide his fate, then smiled at his wife, sitting at the side of the room out of the range of vision of the jury. Mrs. Becker returned the smile and her husband dropped into his chair, fixed his eyes on the jury box and waited for Justice Seabury to begin. With Mrs. Becker were her brother and her husband's brothers, Jackson and John, the latter a lieutenant of detectives.

Just before Justice Seabury began his charge Mrs. Becker bravely told interviewers that she confidently expected her husband to be acquitted.

Mrs. Becker Confident

"The worst I hope for," she said, "is a disagreement for I cannot conceive how twelve sensible men could find a verdict of guilty after hearing such a series of cooked up stories as told by Webber, Rose and Platt. Platt lied to save himself."

As the judge began his address Becker turned in his chair and with hands clasped before him listened intently to every word. The jurors all leaned forward in their chairs while the judge spoke and the courtroom was as quiet as a church. The noise on the street outside which on other occasions made it difficult at times to hear was in evidence.

As the judge continued with his charge Becker's eyes blinked and his lips quivered. The apple of his throat was plainly visible at times and there was other evidence of his nervousness. His wife never looked in his direction. When the judge read the law relating to a prisoner's right not to take the stand Becker's face lighted up, and he turned quickly and looked at his wife. She for the first time turned in his direction and met his gaze.

District Attorney Whitman and his assistant Mr. Delehanty, paid strict attention to the judge's charge. Neither ever looked away from the judge and so far as the jury box was concerned, they paid no heed to it.

TOOK ALL BLAME TO SAVE MORGAN

Mellen Feared an Indictment Would Kill Financier.

ENTIRE BLAME ON MORGAN.

Asserts Son of Financier Asked Him to Resign From Presidency of New Haven Road—Tells Story of Law Passed in Massachusetts—Dramatic Recital Gives Him Immunity.

Washington May 23—Charles S. Mellen finished his story of the affairs of the New Haven. He brought it to an end with a dramatic story of how, to save the elder Morgan from either being subpoenaed before the grand jury or indicted in connection with the Grand Trunk agreement, he himself took the blame for the whole transaction and now stood criminally indicted. Solicitor Folk drew the story from the witness stand a silence that was impressive. The story was made the more strange when Mr. Mellen admitted that it was J. Pierpont Morgan Jr. who went to his afterward and told him that his resignation as the head of the New Haven was desirable.

The younger Morgan's feelings overcame him. Mr. Mellen said when the present head of the Morgan firm was told that Mellen was laboring under injustice and humiliation to save his father.

Mr. Morgan admitted said the witness that if Mr. Mellen had not made the sacrifice for the elder Morgan at the time the latter's health was such that he could not have stood the shock of an indictment and it probably would have killed him.

Lays Entire Blame on Morgan

Mr. Morgan was responsible for the whole transaction. Mr. Mellen said. Mr. Mellen was indicted for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Mr. Mellen said that he wrote a letter assuming responsibility and that the letter was prepared by him, Lewis Cass Iredell and Mr. Morgan's private counsel and Edward D. Robbin general counsel of the New Haven and this was mailed by Mr. Mellen to the district attorney in New York and his indictment followed.

It was about this time that there was a general outcry on account of the Grand Trunk abandoning its project of extending a competing line into New England and the department of justice had directed the investigation which the United States district attorney in New York city was conducting.

Mr. Mellen's dramatic recital of how he came to be indicted is under stood now as his complete immunity from prosecution.

Public interest in Mr. Mellen's story apparently has not waned in the least. As on other days during the week, the hearing room was filled with spectators including a number of women who have followed Mr. Mellen's story closely.

Whether any of the directors of the New Haven who have been subpoenaed to testify in connection with the investigation would be called upon to take the witness stand when Mr. Mellen concludes his testimony, could not definitely be told. Indications were, however, that none of them would appear before next week, but it has been the unspoken intention of the commission to hear the directors following the conclusion of Mr. Mellen's testimony.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

A Milk Diet

There are many and health in every glass of milk. It is a sovereign remedy for many ills. For the thin and a glass at meal time is not enough to give her the beautiful trim and should ders she desires. But glass after glass must be taken until three or four or even six quarts in the daily portion. The more nervous and run down the condition the more milk is needed. It should always be sipped slowly and never drunk when in a dried or overheated condition.

Colonel Roosevelt to Campaign in Pinchot's Interest

HE WILL FIGHT PENROSEISM

Washington Party Candidate for United States Senator Will Begin Visiting Towns of the State Next Monday—Says He Wants to Meet the Voters.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, leader of the Progressive party in the nation, will be a factor in Pennsylvania's triangular campaign in the fall.

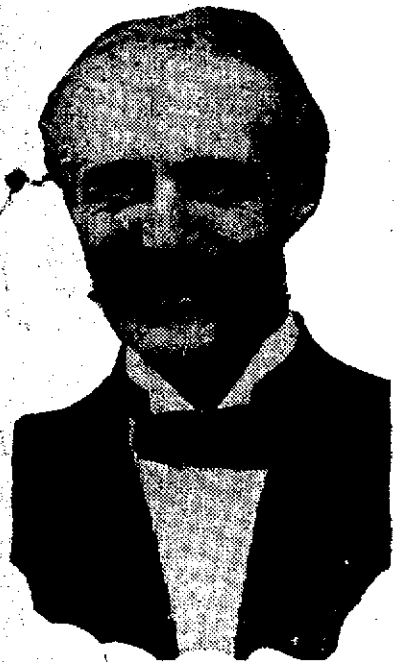

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

and will stump the state for the Washington party ticket and against the ticket headed by Senator Penrose. Colonel Roosevelt's fight will be against Penrose and Penroseism.

So declared Gifford Pinchot, ex-forer of the United States, personal and political friend of the Colonel and Washington party nominee for United States senate, Thursday evening just after his return from a conference with the Colonel Thursday, at Oyster Bay.

Three Weeks in the State.

Mr. Pinchot told this, confirming a telegram he had sent to Representative Fred E. Lewis, Washington party nominee for secretary of internal affairs, at Washington. In that telegram Mr. Pinchot advised Mr. Lewis that Colonel Roosevelt would spend three weeks in Pennsylvania in the fall in the pre-election campaign, arriving in the state about the first week of October. While it is understood that the whole itinerary has not yet been arranged it is also understood that the Roosevelt program comprehends speeches in the large cities and towns and an automobile tour which would reach smaller places.

HON. GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The Colonel's Platform.

It is further understood that Colonel Roosevelt's chief points in his Pennsylvania speeches will be:

Advocacy of the Progressive state and legislative ticket.

Advocacy of woman suffrage.

Advocacy of local option.

General denunciation of the Penrose machine.

Wants to Elect Pinchot.

Colonel Roosevelt is surely coming

here to try to elect his friend Pinchot to the senate as Senator Penrose's successor. Mr. Pinchot let it be known that he was going to start on a tour of the state early next Monday morning. Mr. Pinchot will at that time begin his campaign for election, a campaign which will not end until next November.

Mr. Pinchot, plans to cover the state as fully as possible, for the purpose of getting acquainted with the people of the state he seeks to represent in the United States senate.

Colonel's Keen Interest.

Mr. Pinchot gave out the following statement after his visit to Colonel Roosevelt:

"Colonel Roosevelt was keen to hear what has been going on in his absence, and was full of plans for the future. It is no more than true, to say that he showed himself specially interested in Pennsylvania. Indeed, Colonel Roosevelt authorized me to say in his behalf that he realizes fully the great importance of the campaign in Pennsylvania this year; that he is deeply interested in the success of the Washington party, and that later on he will come into Pennsylvania and take an active part in the fight.

"I expect to see Colonel Roosevelt again to continue discussion of Progressive questions in Pennsylvania and the nation."

Pinchot's Itinerary.

Mr. Pinchot's immediate itinerary plans that the candidate leave York at 7 o'clock on next Monday morning for an automobile tour of the surrounding country through the day, closing with a speech in front of the York court house in the evening. On the following day Mr. Pinchot goes to Spring Grove, Hanover, Adams county, Gettysburg, closing the day with a meeting in the Carlisle opera house. On next Wednesday, Mr. Pinchot will tour Cumberland county.

The candidate has notified the enrolled members of the Washington party of his coming to their several districts, by sending post cards, which bear this message:

"I want to meet you personally. Any suggestions or advice from you will be welcome either before or after election. Your help is needed to clean up our state."

FEDERALS FLEEING BEFORE THE REBELS

Citizens of Saltillo Fear Coming of Villa's Army.

Encarnada, Mexico, May 23.—The federal garrison of Saltillo, which evacuated that city, is in full flight southward toward San Luis Potosi. On foot, by train and on horses, thousands of civilians who fear to remain at Saltillo when it is captured by General Francisco Villa are fleeing.

Since Sunday the battle was continuous, but it is impossible to learn the number of casualties. Much of the fighting was carried on by General Toribio Ortega's division, to which the newspaper correspondents were attached. The casualties in this division were not large.

General Villa established his headquarters north of Saltillo. By a series of rushes the federal forces kept the Constitutionalists engaged in the outskirts north, east and west, affording opportunity for a number of troop trains to escape south.

The fighting continued in some quarters, but prisoners declare this is principally a bluff to cover the main body of the garrison which got away.

Constitutionalist officers say General Gutierrez, with a large force of Constitutionalists, has blocked the railroad to the south and that the retreating federals will find their progress toward San Luis Potosi stopped. Villa's horsemen are preparing to follow the enemy and attack in the rear.

BUSINESS OF CIVIL COURT

Excellent Record Made by The Judges at May Term

FOURTEEN CASES SETTLED

Twenty Suits Continued, With a Possibility That in a Number of Them Litigants Will Adjust Their Differences—Seven Cases Tried Consumed a Great Deal of Court's Time.

An immense amount of business was transacted during the two weeks of May civil court, which ends today. While newspaper reports of the proceedings of civil court in the past two weeks noted the disposition of causes which were heard in open court, they did not chronicle the fact that a large number of cases on the list were settled or continued.

Judge Bell himself has been instrumental in persuading litigants that it would be their interest to settle cases without an appeal to a jury and in all of these cases the principals were entirely satisfied with the result.

Many Cases Settled.

There were 25 cases listed for trial for the first week of the May civil court. Of this number 8 were settled; 1 in which adjustment is probable; 5 continued; 3 in which judgment by consent was entered; 4 tried; 2 taken off list unless otherwise ordered; 2 discontinued.

In the second week of civil court there were 23 cases listed. Of these 2 were tried; 9 were continued; 4 were settled; 2 were continued pending settlement; 2 to be heard by Judge Bell without a jury; 1 for trial.

Judge Whitehead, of Lycoming county, faced a list of 13 special cases, being those in which Judge Bell was interested as counsel before his elevation to the bench. Of these 6 were continued; 3 were settled; 3 non-suited; 1 tried, and 1 ready for trial.

Record for the Two Weeks.

During the two weeks the record of cases stands:

Tried	7
Settled	14
Continued	20
Non-suited	3
Judgment by consent	3
Taken off list	2
Discontinued	4
To be heard by court without a jury	2
Pending adjustment	4
Open	2
Total	61

Business Was Expedited.

Before both judges the business of court was expedited in a satisfactory manner, and the expense of trying petty causes or suits in which trifling amounts were involved was saved to the taxpayers of the county. The fact that a large number of cases were continued is a good augury, as it is the continued cases which stands a good chance of being settled.

It would surprise the public if it were to learn the inside history of some of the cases brought in the civil court. Litigation appears to be a disease which attacks some people and from which they only recover when they run against the machinery of the law and discover that what they regarded as a just claim turns out to be based on nothing more substantial than their imagination.

CHURCH ADDITION

Lutheran Improvement Will be Finished by September 1.

It is expected that the addition which will be built to the English Lutheran church on North Third street will be completed by September 1. Bids for doing the work will be opened this week.

The addition will be 28x50 feet in size and will be of brick, with oak paneling in the interior. The new building will increase the seating capacity of the church one half, but the popularity of the pastor, Rev. C. R. Allenbach, and the constantly increasing membership of the congregation are expected to fill the edifice.

It is proposed to purchase and install a pipe organ costing about $2,500, and Andrew Carnegie has been requested to contribute the amount he usually gives churches wishing to buy organs—$1000. Up to the present time no response has been made to the request.

AN APPRECIATED GIFT

Mrs. McGaughey's Fine Present to Domestic Science Department.

The gift is very welcome one to the department, which was badly in need of the dishes, as well as it is of some other equipment.

The teaching of domestic science in the public schools does much to show the value of economy and of well prepared meals in the home. Further help in increasing the facilities of the department by people interested in the schools would be appreciated.

PEACE ENVOYS FACE HARD TASK

Carranza's Representative Allowed to Attend Session.

MORE OPTIMISM PREVAILS.

Something of Great Importance—One Knows What It Is—Expected to Develop in Day or Two—May Try to Establish Provisional Government in Mexico—Seek Views of Rebels.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 23.—Something of great importance is believed to be impending in the mediation conferences designed for the solution of Mexico's troubles. Just what it is, of course, cannot be definitely ascertained, but judging from the moves made by the mediators during the past twenty-four hours it most probably has to do with the establishment of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of the fast crumbling government under General Victoriano Carranza.

On the other hand, there are not a few who incline to the belief that the representatives of Carranza, Argueta and Chila acting as the mediators have encountered something extremely difficult. There are rumors that the Mexican delegates, Senors Robson, Redington and Elguero, have informally requested the mediators to take more cognizance than has been the case of Carranza's position and to have the American delegates assent to the same thing. Naturally this would prove a bounding point.

Majority is Optimistic.

Those optimistic of the success of the conferences, however, apparently were in the majority as the result of the intimations and indications that the mediators are working for a new Mexican provisional government, which would hold sway until an election was held and needed reforms to Mexico were at least indicated.

One step in this direction is the impending arrival here of a representative of the Mexican Constitutionalists. It has been emphasized continually that a complete settlement of Mexico's troubles is impossible without the inclusion of the Constitutionalists into any plan decided upon. Apparently the A. B. C. mediators have advanced to that stage in their work where the entire Mexican situation has been taken up and where the necessity of obtaining the views of General Victoriano Carranza and his officials has asserted itself.

The Constitutionalists representative when he arrives most probably will be taken into conference by the mediators. The conference, however, will be an informal one. The Constitutionalists do not constitute a formal party to the mediation conferences, and for that reason any dealings with them cannot be official. The way for them formally to enter the conferences at the Clinton House, however, will not be closed.

At the conference with General Carranza's agent the mediators will sound him thoroughly as to the desires of his chief and will make recommendations which will be transmitted to the Constitutionalists supreme chief. What is learned from the agent undoubtedly will influence the negotiations between the mediators and the Huerta and American delegates.

Washington Party Leaders Hold Important Conference

WILL MAKE VIGOROUS FIGHT

Former State Senator Flinn Sees No Chance for Penrose, and is Enthusiastic Over the Outlook for the Success of the Washington Party This Fall.

Actual launching on the Washington party campaign for the election of Clifford Pinchot as United States senator, William Draper Lewis as governor, and the smashing of the Penrose machine took place Saturday at an all-day conference of Progressive leaders of the state at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Philadelphia.

Two important propositions resulted directly from the gathering. Decision was reached to call the newly elected state committee together in Harrisburg on June 4, when a state platform will be adopted.

For a Rousing Campaign.

The drafting of this platform placed in the hands of a committee, consisting of the candidates on the state ticket, who will report to the conference on the evening preceding the Harrisburg meeting.

In addition plans were laid for a campaign which will arouse all of the enthusiasm that marked this history-making fight of 1912. One of the principal figures in this campaign will be Theodore Roosevelt. Former State Senator William Flinn, who has just returned from a conference with Colonel Roosevelt, spoke enthusiastically of the outlook for success next fall.

Candidates at Conference.

The conference was attended by all except one of the state nominees of the Washington party, including Clifford Pinchot, nominee for United States senator; William Draper Lewis, for governor; Percy F. Smith, of Allegheny, for lieutenant governor; Fred E. Lewis, of Lehigh, for secretary of internal affairs; and Lex N. Mitchell, of Jefferson; Arthur Ruple, of Cumberland and Anderson H. Walters, of Cambria, three of the nominees for congress-at-large.

Party Officers Present.

Washington party officers at the conference included former State Senator Flinn, of Pittsburgh, national committeeman from Pennsylvania; A. Nevin Detrick, of Franklin, state chairman, and H. D. Lindermuth, of Schuylkill, secretary of the state committee.

Other Progressive leaders present were Auditor General A. W. Powell, State Treasurer Robert K. Young, H. D. W. English, E. A. Van Valkenburg, and Judge Charles N. Brumm, who contested the Washington party gubernatorial nomination with Doctor Lewis, the successful candidate.

Owing to his wife's illness Major Harry Watson, the only Grand Army man who is a candidate on any of the state tickets, was unable to be present.

Senator Flinn's Views.

Former Senator Flinn in an interview at the close of the conference, was enthusiastic over the outlook for the success of the Washington party's candidates. He said Colonel Roosevelt regarded the election in Pennsylvania as of very great importance and that the colonel would give ample time to the campaign here, coming here several times if necessary.

"Personally," said Mr. Flinn, "I think the election in Pennsylvania will be the most important in the United States. The eyes of the nation are on the contest here."

Sees No Chance for Penrose.

Asked what he thought of Senator Penrose's chances of election Mr. Flinn replied: "I don't think he has any chance. The primary election indicates his full strength. He would have to get at least 400,000 votes to win. He would have to get 50 percent more than Taft, and that he can not do."

"The Penrose vote in Allegheny represents the characteristic Penrose following two-thirds of it being made up of the liquor vote, which is solidly for him."

"Palmer may poll as many votes

as Wilson. He cannot poll any more and, therefore, cannot win.

Throttle Progressive Legislation.

"The Republican state senate," said Mr. Flinn, "throttled all the progressive legislation at the last session of the legislature, and that legislation is just as urgent now as it was then, but the people won't trust the Republican organization leaders, as any sensible man knows they won't do what they promise in the way of progressive legislation."

Mr. Flinn referred to the enrollment law as a fraud, and said the enrollment figures gave no indication of party strength. "The registrars in many instances outside of the big cities," he said, "enrolled voters just as they pleased, and as most of the registrars are Republican machine followers they naturally put the voters down as Republicans."

STATE HIGHWAYS

Bids Will be Asked for Roads in This Part of State.

The state highway department is preparing to advertise for bids on state-aid construction in Cambria, Fayette, McKean, York, Chester, Lycoming, Montgomery and Tioga counties and for bids on a small piece of approach work on a Sproul highway in Westmoreland county. These bids will close on June 18.

In Cambria county there are two contracts, one of which is in East Taylor township and East Conemaugh borough. The length of this stretch is 9,185 feet and the construction is to be of brick block on a concrete foundation in East Conemaugh borough, while alternate bids will be received on a concrete roadway and brick block paving on a concrete foundation for the piece in East Taylor township.

The other Cambria county piece of work is in Barnesboro borough, the length being 6,242 feet and is to be brick block paving.

The McKean county bid is for work to be done in Port Allegany borough, a distance of 6,272 feet, of brick block paving.

Hiking to St. Louis.

W. L. Shortess, of Berwick, who is on a hike to St. Louis on a wager, stopped in Clearfield this morning. He must complete his task in 40 days.

NEW LIGHTSHIP LOST WITH 25 MEN ABOARD

Sturdy Halifax No. 19 Wrecked in Fog Off Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S., May 24.—The battered bulk of the new lightship, the Halifax 19, was found among the breakers on Liscomb island, five miles from the mainland. She struck during the dense fog which has enshrouded the coast for several days, and it is believed her crew of twenty-five are lost.

Six bodies, bearing life belts have been recovered by the steamer Dufferin. Both lifeboats, which the vessel carried were also found. A search of the rocky little islands in the vicinity was made in the hope that some of the crew might have been able to get through the surf alive.

Word reached the Canadian marine department here that the hull of the lightship was broken in halves.

The ship was on her maiden voyage from her builder's yards at Paisley, Scotland, to take up her station off Sambre ledges, near Halifax harbor. Captain MacBeth and Chief Engineer McKenzie were the only members of the crew known here. The men were shipped in Glasgow.

The government steamers Stanley and Lady Laurier were ordered to search for possible survivors or for more bodies.

Although the lightship was the last word in staunch steel construction and carried one twenty-three foot lifeboat and a powerful twenty-four foot motor launch, the Canadian marine department has little hope that any on board escaped. Long rollers from the north Atlantic break over the jagged rocks with terrific force in the calmest weather. All vessels give the spot as wide a berth as possible.

Everybody Delighted.

A FINE LECTURE BY DR. WRIGHT

Superintendent of Italian Missions Gives Three Talks

OUR DUTY TO IMMIGRANTS

American People Too Prone to Treat With Indifference or Contempt the Foreigner Who Comes Here to Make a Home—Italians a Thrifty Race.

The citizens of Clearfield received a rare treat Sunday when Dr. E. H. Wright, of New York, gave three of his interesting talks on his work among the Italians. Dr. Wright has had a wide experience with the Italian work, having been pastor of the American church in Italy for four years and district superintendent there for four years. He is now district superintendent of all the territory in America east of the Mississippi.

In the morning he gave a short talk to the Sunday school scholars of Trinity church, and later in the morning talked to the members of the Eleventh Street church.

Cheers Hospital Patients.

In the afternoon Dr. Wright, on hearing that there were some Italian in the Clearfield hospital, and being thoroughly in love with his work, sacrificed an afternoon of rest and went to see those who were ill. There he found several Italians who were not only physically, but who were downcast and lonely for the sight of some one or something from their home-land. The visit of Dr. Wright revived their spirits and gave them new courage.

In the evening Dr. Wright gave a very interesting lecture in the West Side M. E. church. The doctor is an earnest, forceful speaker and held the undivided attention of his audience during the entire evening.

In his frank, open-hearted way he told of his experience in the Land of Sunshine. He pointed out to the American people their weakness in regard to the foreigner.

Should Apply Golden Rule.

He said "We might apply the Golden Rule to ourselves. No American would like to be nicknamed as we have nicknamed the Italian. Why not 'Do unto others as you would that they should do to you'?" The majority of Americans make practically no effort to Christianize the foreigner, but always look upon him as an undesirable citizen. "The doctor told of several instances where the Italian has made good in this country and mentioned several that are occupying prominent positions and are good Christian citizens. "They do not come to America to beg he said, "but to make good, and instead of being encouraged they are met with hatred and distrust. There are two-thirds of the foreign population in America that are either indifferent to their church or are affiliated with no religious denomination." Dr. Wright even cited some instances where the Italian was barred from public worship in America. "Here in our free and glorious land, which was founded by our Puritan Fathers, everyone might worship unmolested according to the dictates of his own heart."

HOSTON STANDS BEFORE A JURY

Negro Charged With Killing of James Dunkle on Trial

CRIME COMMITTED AT A DANCE

Community in Which Killing Was Done Said to be One of the Most Lawless in Pennsylvania—Whites and Blacks Commingle Without Thought of Morals or the Law.

Clayton Hoston was placed on trial before the Clearfield county court this afternoon for the killing of James Dunkle, at or near Cataract early Sunday morning, April 19.

The commonwealth is represented by Messrs. Welch, Kelley and Murray; and the defendant will have Messrs. Gleason and Urey to look after his interests. The jury being selected this afternoon is being taken from the panel which was called at the criminal court the first week in May.

Judge Bell will hear the case.

Killed at a Dance.

Dunkle attended a dance at one of the houses at Cataract Saturday evening, April 18, and Hoston, a colored man was one of the musicians. The dance was attended by the denizens of that part of the county, where race or color is not a bar to social enjoyment and where morals are said to be at a low ebb.

There were no disturbances during the evening, and the dance was continued until the early hours of Sunday morning.

It was during an interval of the festivities that Dunkle was slashed with a knife which was wielded by Hoston. It is alleged, the wounded man dying in about fifteen minutes. There were many witnesses to the cutting, and the story first told was to the effect that while Dunkle was standing talking to another person Hoston went behind him and slashed him across the stomach without warning.

Hoston Shot in Back.

After the cutting Hoston started to run from the scene, but man named Burfield picked up a 22-caliber revolver and fired twice at the fleeing negro, both bullets entering his back. Hoston was arrested and brought to the county jail, where his wounds were attended to, not being serious.

The community in which this crime was committed is said to be one of the most lawless in Pennsylvania. The people in that vicinity have intermarried for years, and black and white intermingle with seeming indifference to either religious precept or man-made laws. A killing of a man in that community causes no more excitement than would the shooting of a deer.

The jury in this case is now being drawn.

At the conclusion of this case the West Side murder case will be taken up.

ELK DANCE

But They Vanished Like the Mists in the Morning Sun.

Harry Adams, while standing on Second street bridge Friday evening thought he saw some more money in the river, from which boys fished quite a sum last week. Harry thought of the coming circus, so he procured a rope, fastened it to the bridge, went down to the water hand over hand, picked up what he had been certain was a $20 bill and discovered that it was a green stamp off a cigar box.

Harry still thinks the people who laughed at him were very rude.

COLONEL PROPOSES STRAUS FOR SENATE

Roosevelt Says New York Must Be Bolstered Up.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 24.—Colonel Roosevelt and the Progressive leaders who visited his home here discussed conditions in New York state and Ohio.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, chairman of the New York state Progressive committee and a nephew of the colonel, said he thought he knew something about the situation in New York in so far as the Progressives were concerned, when he arrived, but he went away with his viewpoint altered considerably. The colonel put aside, with a wave of his hand, all discouraging reports and said that New York must be bolstered up.

As the opening suggestion he proposed Oscar S. Straus for United States senator. When this had been discussed other names were considered for other offices. Among them was that Bainbridge Colby, one of the most active workers in the 1912 campaign. It was proposed to make him candidate for governor. Frederick M. Davenport, former state senator and nominee for lieutenant governor in 1912, when Mr. Straus headed the state ticket, was considered for this place, and so was William H. Hotchkiss, former Progressive state chairman.

It is understood here that Mr. Straus will accept the nomination as United States senator and that he is prepared to make a hard fight. Colonel Roosevelt, it is understood, is satisfied that Mr. Straus can win at the direct primaries.

Inspectors Coming.

The state inspector will visit the County home on Wednesday, June 3. The public is invited to visit the home on that day and note its condition.

TERSE DEMAND TO PEACE MEDIATORS

Wilson Sends Instructions to American Representatives

WON'T RECOGNIZE CARRANZA

To Pacify Neighbor Peaceably if Possible, Otherwise Force May Be Used. Army to Remain at Vera Cruz, Mexico. "Such Other Steps as May Be Necessary"—Carranza Refuses Delegates.

Washington, May 24.—"The United States will pacify Mexico peaceably if possible, forcibly if necessary."

"The United States neither the Huerta nor Carranza faction in Mexico is friendly to American prestige in that republic, the United States is playing this element against each other to gain support from the Mexican masses."

"It insists that peace be established at once. American troops will not be withdrawn from Vera Cruz until peace is accomplished. Such other steps as may be necessary will be taken."

This message in effect was given by Commissioners Lamar and Lehmann to the A. B. C. mediators and the Huerta delegates at Niagara Falls last through the mediators to Carranza.

A conference at Niagara Falls with orders from Washington by the president and Secretary Bryan, after a two days' session here with Carranza representatives.

Carranza Refuses Delegates. Efforts to induce Carranza to send delegates to the mediation conference are unavailing. The new step is ultimatum to the Constitutionalist. This information was obtained soon after the receipt by the White House of word from Niagara Falls.

The American representatives were immediately instructed to detail the final position of the government. It is intended that this frank statement shall operate as a threat to Carranza not from the United States, but from the mediators, who are essentially friendly to all Mexican factions. Carranza will be told that he cannot be recognized unconditionally by the United States.

State department officials admit that Carranza wants to be recognized first and to talk mediation afterward.

Should Carranza return an ultimatum that American troops leave Mexico soil mediation will crumble much more rapidly than the Huerta government, and the pacification of Mexico by American arms will follow.

Charles A. Douglas, general counsel of the Constitutionalist, said that mediation could not be successful without Carranza. Carranza's representatives hold that as he will soon be in absolute control in Mexico President Wilson should deal with him alone.

Mr. Douglas conferred with Secretary Bryan and Envoy Lind. Then Secretary Bryan saw the president.

Temperature of Soil. Beyond a depth of three feet the temperature of the soil does not vary very much from day to day. At fifty feet it is impossible to measure any change due to changing seasons; at forty feet it is barely measurable. At twenty-five to thirty feet a change from season is quite perceptible, though the change takes over six months. At three feet the average annual mean is 45 degrees F.; at twenty-five feet a degree more.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

WAR ON PENROSE.
Washington leaders of Pennsylvania
launched the campaign against Penroseism at a meeting in Philadelphia Saturday, which was attended
by nearly all of the candidates, Former Senator William Flinn, State Chair-
man Detrich and others. It was decided to begin the fight against Pen-
roseism at once, and Gifford Pinchot
began his work this morning, while
other speakers will tour the state and
speak in behalf of good government
from now until the day of election.

The determination of Colonel Roosevelt to come into Pennsylvania and
speak in behalf of the election of Gif-
ford Pinchot has had the effect of encouraging the Washington party voters and the fact that the leading Republican newspapers of the east declare that the defeat of Penrose is
the imperative duty of the voters of Pennsylvania will go toward proving
to voters of all parties that the time
has come for the retirement of the
man who has for years stood between the people and remedial legislation in the state assembly.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Preparations are being made for
the observance of Memorial Day in Clearfield. Former post members,
now few in numbers, will hold the
usual services at the graves of the departed veterans, the firmest will participate in the parade and other

civic bodies will contribute to the
features of the day.
There are not many of the veterans of the Civil war remaining to participate in the Memorial day exercises. Those who have answered
the last roll call, live only in the memory of those who survive. It is
a duty the living owe to the dead
to decorate the graves of the dead
heroes with bright flowers, and this
will no doubt be properly attended
to by the citizens of Clearfield.

It might be well for the state
health department to postpone the
enforcement of the law requiring cities and boroughs to construct sever-
age disposal plants until after the
corporations have been forced to
stop emptying poisonous material in
the streams of the state.

Someone wants to know why the
names of physicians are missing from

Optimism Evident After Con- ference With Delegates.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 24.—Substantial progress was made in the
negotiations to end Mexico's troubles,
and the ambassador of Brazil and the
ministers of Argentina and Chile announced that a conference had emphasized the likelihood of a favorable
outcome of the peace negotiations.

The conference was the first formal
meeting of the A. B. C. envoys and the delegates of the United States and Mexico since their opening session on Wednesday. It lasted only an hour,
but during that time "several interesting points" were considered, according
to the statement issued on behalf of
the mediators.

The main point under discussion
had to do with the settlement of the Mexican land question, upon which President Wilson insists. It was learned after the conference that the Mexican delegates, while conceding that
the problem was one that might be
brought into a plan for a general settlement of Mexico's difficulties, held
that it should not be so treated as to leave the government of Mexico committed to settle it in any particular
way.

It was stated that the Mexican delegates expressed the hope that President Wilson would not insist upon
terms for the adjustment of this problem that would make it impossible to
adopt a different policy should circumstances make it desirable. They felt
that latitude should be left in any
agreement reached here for a settlement of the problem as future events
dictated.

The question of land reform has
formed the subject of several interesting "conversations" between the medi-
ators and the delegates of the two parties to the negotiations, each set of
delegates meeting the envoys at different times.

Vice President Marshall talked briefly
on the Mexican situation while at Richmond, Va. "From my personal observations upon the course of the Mexican situation I greatly favor the admission of Carranza's representatives to the mediation proceedings. I think there is little doubt that Villa will enter Mexico City
and that shortly Huerta's regime is terminating. The dictator's days are numbered. When Villa takes Mexico City the United States will face a new crisis in the Mexican situation. From the facts as I know
them it is my judgment that Villa is lit-
tler better than Huerta. Pancho Villa is not likely to be a party to mediation. I should
say that the reckless course he has lately
must be stayed by influences outside
himself."

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back
hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and
our blood is filled with uric acid,
says a well-known authority, who
warns us to be constantly on guard
against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to
free the blood of this irritating acid,
but become weak from the overwork;
they get sluggish; the eliminative tis-
sues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel
like lumps of lead and you have
stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or
the bladder is irritable, obliging you
to seek relief during the night; when
you have severe headaches, nervous
and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid
stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about
four ounces of Jad Salts; take a
tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in
a few days your kidneys will act
fine. This famous salts is made
from the acid of grapes and lemon
juice, combined with lithia, and has
been used for generations to flush
and stimulate clogged kidneys, to
neutralize the acids in urine so it is
no longer a source of irritation, thus
ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can-
not injure; makes a delightful efferves-
cent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking
a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

TRUST BILLS HALT; PRESIDENT FIRM

House Lags and Delay in Senate Is Now Foreseen.

WILSON DEMANDS ACTION.

No Compromise Will Be Considered by Leaders—Little Chance For Adjournment Before Latter Part of July Plans to Rush Consideration of Clayton's Measure to Both Branches.

Washington, May 24.—While President Wilson will not be content with anything less than the passage of the anti-trust bills through both house and senate this session, the outlook for the progress of this legislation is not encouraging. House members, including the leaders, evince such indifference to the Clayton omnibus measure now before it that the meager attendance caused an adjournment and the calling off of the night session planned in the senate further delay is foreseen in considering the trust legislation by a demand that will be made to refer the Clayton bill to the judiciary committee as soon as it comes from the house.

The president's attitude regarding the anti-trust legislation became known in answer to suggestions that some leaders at the capitol believed it would be sufficient to pass the bills in the house and only agree on a time for a vote next session in the senate. It was said at the White House that the president was firmly of the opinion that the legislation should be enacted at this session, and was not willing to make any compromise which might endanger the program determined upon by the house Democratic caucus. Although he realizes the desire of many members of congress to adjourn early, he believes the anti-trust legislation can be expedited in both houses.

Senate leaders' plans relating to the Clayton bill, which deals with price discriminations and definition of the Sherman anti-trust act, were indicated by Senator Overman, though it is probable that after a tussle the committee on interstate commerce will get the whole subject.

"I have talked to several members of the committee, who wish to have this measure referred to the judiciary committee," said Senator Overman, who is chairman of the latter committee. "I have not conferred with members of the committee on interstate commerce, but I hope that a division of the measures between the two committees can be arranged without friction."

The senate committee on interstate commerce has so far assumed exclusive jurisdiction over anti-trust legislation, and in reporting a tentative measure included in one bill all the various subjects with which the committee deems it wise to deal in the present session.

As to adjournment, there was a distinctly pessimistic air in the senate. Senator Kern, chairman of the Democratic caucus, modified his prediction of congress quitting July 10, now stating he hoped the senate would adjourn "some time in July."

ACCUSE PATRICK CALHOUN.

Commission Charges He Appropriated $1,000,000 Railways Money.

San Francisco, May 24.—That Patrick Calhoun, former president of the United States, appropriated more than $1,000,000 of the company's funds to finance private enterprises was charged by the state railroad commission in a decision.

The decision termed the transaction "loot and fraud upon the public and upon the company's bond and note holders."

Cleveland, O., May 24.—"The statement of the California railroad commission that I appropriated funds of the San Francisco United railway is absolutely untrue," said Patrick Calhoun here.

Indians and Buffalo are Now Almost Extinct on Prairies.

The American Indian will soon exist only in history. His extermination has been gradual, but will be sure. He has gradually been driven from his happy home in the east to a few barren reservations in the west, where, by amalgamation, dissipation or separation he is fast becoming extinct.

The Redskin has always been one of the most picturesque as well as cunning of the races. He is quick of perception, fleet of foot, loyal to a friend and unyielding to an enemy. There are many other things that make the Indians interesting to people who know very little about them or their habits. Even at this advanced period there are many people in America who have never seen an Indian.

The Buffalo, from which the Indian secured almost all his supplies, is also nearly extinct.

With the passing of the Redskin and the Buffalo, the Indian life will be a thing of the past.

WHITMAN GETS BECKER NOTES

Said to Have Urged Gunmen
to Keep Silent.

"DON'T SQUEAL" HE ASKED.

Would Have Been Used in Trial, but
Prosecutor Thought Case Was Strong Enough Without Them—Notes Were
Smuggled in Books—Becker Bears
Up Well and Is Still Hopeful.

New York, May 24.—Messages that
former Lieutenant Charles Becker
passed to the four gunmen in the Sing Sing death house are in the hands
of District Attorney Whitman.

If the trial of the former police officer had taken a turn adverse to the prosecution Mr. Whitman would have put the secretly written letters in as
state's evidence.

The convicted Becker wrote in these
notes, it is said, urging that the four
gunmen protect him in any confession
they might give before going to the
electric chair.

"Don't squeal," is the message attributed to Becker.

The district attorney got one of the
notes from Mrs. "Lefty Louis" Rosenberg, widow of one of the gunmen,
while Becker's trial was on. He did
not use them, as he believed he had
a strong enough case against Becker.

Mrs. Rosenberg came into possession
of the notes on the last visit she made
to her husband. He told her, so she informed Whitman, that they were not
to be used until after the death of the gunmen.

"Lefty Louis" confided to his wife,
so she told Whitman, that Becker was
frightened over the prospect of the
four men turning against him, and he wrote the letters to bolster up their
courage.

The messages were hidden in the pages of a book that Becker passed
into the cell of "Lefty Louis."

Messages Were Brief.
The gunman saw that the book was
handed on to the others and later
sent back to Becker's cell. Another
note was later on communicated in
the same way.

Each message to the gunmen was
brief. Whitman has had the hand-
writing compared with that of Becker,
and experts say it is unquestionably
his. The writing in the notes was an apparent attempt at disguise, but the
characteristics are the same as Beck-
er's, so the experts say.

To get the messages from Becker's
cell to those of the gunmen the ut-
most ingenuity had to be used so as
to prevent the guards from suspecting
a trick. Mrs. Rosenberg told Whitman
that the gunmen used a book on religion that had been given them by one
of their spiritual advisers.

Whitman left town for a rest after
the stress of the trial and no one in
his office would discuss the messages
from Becker. But it was admitted
that such notes were at hand and that Whitman would have used them had
the necessity arisen.

Although bitterly cast down over the
verdict that condemns him to the electric chair, Becker assumed a cheerful
attitude, hoping that the efforts of his
counsel will again save him. Martin
T. Manton conferred in his office with Becker's brothers, John Becker and Jackson Becker, assuring them that he
will waste no time in preparing an appeal.

Becker's first caller after his conviction was his brother, John Becker, and within a few minutes Mrs. Becker arrived at the permit both to see the convicted man.

Mrs. Becker had recovered from her utter despondency, her color had returned and she evidently had her feelings well under

England and America were in the
same plight on the closing day of the
golf championship. All of England's players had been eliminated, and an Irishman and a Scot were the contestants for the cup. Up to the semifinals
the championship continued to furnish
big surprises, and it only remained for
the finals to finish up one of the most
sensational tournaments ever known
in English sport competitions. All Englishmen have gone in the way of

GREAT INTEREST IN BECKER CASE

Two Years Since Murder Does
Not Diminish Excitement.

JUSTICE SEABURY'S CHARGE

Summing Up by Attorneys Considered Masterly—As Plucky Wife of Prisoner Entered Courtroom Before Jury Retired She Expressed Confidence in Outcome.

New York, May 23—Fully as much if not more interest was shown in the second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, charged with instigating the murder of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, as in the first. Throughout the trial the courtroom was jammed on every hand. Riots occurred at the doors among those who sought entrance. The case was given to the jury at 12:50 p. m.

The summing up of the case was considered masterly, both on the part of Attorney Manton for the defense and District Attorney Whitman for the state. Justice Seabury's charge to the jury was concise and clear. He covered every point in the law and instructed the jury that it was its duty to determine the credibility of the several witnesses whose past history and moral character were attacked by the attorneys in summing up the case.

The justice said in part:

"I charge you as a matter of law that Rose, Webber and Vallon are ac-

CHAS. BECKER.

complices because if their testimony is true, they aided and abetted in the murder of Herman Rosenthal. The jury will consider not only that Rose, Webber and Vallon are accomplices, but you may also consider the stipulation of immunity that they were not guilty of firing a shot and were telling the truth. The jury will also take into account the interest they have in abiding themselves in weighing their testimony. If the jury does not believe their testimony or if it has not been sufficiently corroborated, then you must acquit the defendant."

Becker strode into court a few minutes after the jury was seated. He looked hopefully at the twelve men picked to decide his fate, then smiled at his wife, sitting at the side of the room out of the range of vision of the jury. Mrs. Becker returned the smile and her husband dropped into his chair, fixed his eyes on the jury box and waited for Justice Seabury to begin. With Mrs. Becker were her brother and her husband's brothers, Jackson and John, the latter a lieutenant of detectives.

Just before Justice Seabury began his charge Mrs. Becker bravely told interviewers that she confidently expected her husband to be acquitted.

Mrs. Becker Confident

"The worst I hope for," she said, "is a disagreement for I cannot conceive how twelve sensible men could find a verdict of guilty after hearing such a series of cooked up stories as told by

As the judge began his address Becker turned in his chair and with hands clasped before him listened intently to every word. The jurors all leaned forward in their chairs while the judge spoke and the courtroom was as quiet as a church. The noise on the street outside which on other occasions made it difficult at times to hear was in evidence.

As the judge continued with his charge Becker's eyes blinked and his lips quivered. The apple of his throat was plainly visible at times and there was other evidence of his nervousness. His wife never looked in his direction. When the judge read the law relating to a prisoner's right not to take the stand Becker's face lighted up, and he turned quickly and looked at his wife. She for the first time turned in his direction and met his gaze.

District Attorney Whitman and his assistant Mr. Delehanty, paid strict attention to the judge's charge. Neither ever looked away from the judge and so far as the jury box was concerned, they paid no heed to it.

Asserts Son of Financier Asked Him to Resign From Presidency of New Haven Road—Tells Story of Law Passed in Massachusetts—Dramatic Recital Gives Him Immunity.

Washington May 23—Charles S. Mellen finished his story of the affairs of the New Haven. He brought it to an end with a dramatic story of how, to save the elder Morgan from either being subpoenaed before the grand jury or indicted in connection with the Grand Trunk agreement, he himself took the blame for the whole transaction and now stood criminally indicted. Solicitor Folk drew the story from the witness stand a silence that was impressive. The story was made more strange when Mr. Mellen admitted that it was J. Pierpont Morgan Jr. who went to him afterward and told him that his resignation as the head of the New Haven was desirable.

The younger Morgan's feelings overcame him. Mr. Mellen said when the present head of the Morgan firm was told that Mellen was laboring under injustice and humiliation to save his father.

Mr. Morgan admitted said the witness that if Mr. Mellen had not made the sacrifice for the elder Morgan at the time the latter's health was such that he could not have stood the shock of an indictment and it probably would have killed him.

Lays Entire Blame on Morgan

Mr. Morgan was responsible for the whole transaction. Mr. Mellen said Mr. Mellen was indicted for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. Mr. Mellen said that he wrote a letter assuming responsibility and that the letter was prepared by him, Lewis Cass Iredell and Mr. Morgan's private counsel and Edward D. Robbin general counsel of the New Haven and this was mailed by Mr. Mellen to the district attorney in New York and his indictment followed.

It was about this time that there was a general outcry on account of the Grand Trunk abandoning its project of extending a competing line into New England and the department of justice had directed the investigation which the United States district attorney in New York city was conducting.

Mr. Mellen's dramatic recital of how he came to be indicted is under stood now, says his complete immunity from prosecution.

Public interest in Mr. Mellen's story apparently has not waned in the least. As on other days during the week, the hearing room was filled with spectators including a number of women who have followed Mr. Mellen's story closely.

Whether any of the directors of the New Haven who have been subpoenaed to testify in connection with the investigation would be called upon to take the witness stand when Mr. Mellen concludes his testimony, could not definitely be told. Indications were, however, that none of them would appear before next week, but it has been the unspoken intention of the commission to hear the directors following the conclusion of Mr. Mellen's testimony.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

A Milk Diet

There are many and health in every glass of milk. It is a sovereign remedy for many ills. For the thin and a glass at meal time is not enough to give her the beautiful trim and should she desire this, but glass after glass must be taken until three or four or even six quarts in the daily portion. The more nervous and run down the condition the more milk is needed. It should always be sipped slowly and never drunk when in a dried or overheated condition.
